

HERBERT WINS;
HOWELL LOSES

Norfolk and Portsmouth Each
Takes Game at Home.
Staub Joins Tars.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Norfolk, Va., July 4.—Norfolk lost the morning game played in Portsmouth to-day, 5 to 3, and took the afternoon contest played in this city, 8 to 2.

The morning game went to Portsmouth, because the Pirates hit the ball and ran bases well. The locals outplayed the Pirates in the field, but could not hit Herbert when men were on bases.

The afternoon contest was a walk-over for the Tars. "Shorty" Staub, who wore a Norfolk uniform when Charles Babb managed the team, appeared again to-day and played right field, where Keller held forth prior to his run-in with President McCrary, who suspended him until he makes up his mind to pay a fine of $25.

Staub got a big ovation from the fans, and he won back his old place in their hearts by smashing out a two-bagger with the bases full. On another occasion, with a man on third, Staub hit a single to right. Weaver's great pitching, however, was really responsible for the Tars' victory. He only allowed four hits, and had better control than he has shown this season. He kept the other hand, was wild and ineffective.

Keating's work at short for the Pirates was about the worst ever seen here. He apparently did not try to play his best, and there was a report in circulation that Manager Garvin would bench him. Garvin denied the report, however. The score:

GAMES IN ROANOKE
MARRED BY RAIN

Tigers and Shipbuilders Divide
Bill Before Goodby Crowds;
Who Brave Weather.

Roanoke, Va., July 4.—Winning and losing one was the fate of the near tigers and the third-placers. The morning game was played amid showers which broke up the game on several occasions. Efford did not allow a safe hit until the eighth. The Tigers had a number of chances to score, but Paxson failed to allow such a procedure. In the tenth two bases on balls, some poor work in the field, and a clean hit, scored two runs for the visitors. It was a well-played game, and one full of thrills that pleased the fans.

Tolson and Perryman were too much for the Shipbuilders in the afternoon game, and the Tigers had but little trouble winning. Tolson was taken out in the sixth after the Shipbuilders began to show signs of doing some hitting. Perryman did not allow a hit the balance of the game. The Tigers hit Carter hard, and at the right time. The two games were played under very discouraging circumstances. The grounds were wet and slow, and in the morning it rained hard. During the afternoon it looked like it would rain every minute, but the showers never came. The attendance was very good under the conditions, the two games here netting the league about $500, as the receipts will be pooled. The scores:

Clean Clear-Glass Bottles Insure Clean Beer

Perfect Brew

Our double inspection guarantees purity---a guarantee impossible with brown bottles.

"Perfect Brew" is always sold in Clear-Glass Bottles. We use Clear-Glass Bottles, because after bottles have been used and are allowed to remain in musty cellars, and insanitary back yards—often exposed to dirt, flies, bacteria and other unwholesome conditions—it is not always possible to thoroughly cleanse and sterilize them—however modern the washing apparatus at the brewery may be, and in the case of a Brown Bottle, it is impossible to see whether it is clean.

Our rule is to see that every bottle, before it is refilled with "Perfect Brew," is Absolutely Clean. Every bottle is examined after washing, and again after it is Filled and Pasteurized. This double inspection insures detection of any particle of Dirt or Impurity, and if there is we DESTROY THE BOTTLE.

When you drink beer from a Brown Bottle you can't see, hence you don't know whether it is perfectly clean and pure.

You take no chance when you drink "Perfect Brew" from a clean, Clear-Glass Bottle.

A Brown Bottle may be clean, but—if it contains Dirt you can't see it.

THIS DIRT IS DISSOLVED IN THE BEER AND YOU DRINK IT.

Light Does Not Affect Good Beer

Ordinary light does not injure a well-brewed, well-aged beer. It is only when exposed to the Strong SUNLIGHT that any material chemical change takes place, and beer in Brown Bottles is quite as susceptible to injury from this cause as beer in Clear-Glass Bottles.

Usually you don't put out beer in the sun any more than you do milk, ice or meat.

In making "Perfect Brew" ours has been a persistent purpose to produce a Perfect Beer—so perfect in Materials, Fermentation, Aging and Bottling, that we offer you a faultless Malt and Hops Beverage.

You who have drunk "Perfect Brew" know its sparkling snap, its nutritive body, its delightful flavor.

Readers of this advertisement, who have not yet tried it, have a pleasuse to come. Once tasted "Perfect Brew" becomes the First Thought of the Thirsty.

Simpson and Meyers carried off the batting honors. Simpson's drive was one of the longest seen at Byrd Park this season, going over into the second diamond. The game was well attended.
